

JENNIFER HOWLAND

Reggae Redemption World Tour 2008-2009

Featuring Christafari, Avion Blackman and Solomon Jabby

Artist Biography

Raised by Christian parents in Louisville, Kentucky, Jennifer Howland has been around gospel music for her whole life. She can remember singing along with her father as he would lead the church choir in praise and worship. Jen began singing at the age of seven and quickly realized that music would always be a part of her life. Through her teenage years she formed several small singing groups and began writing songs. She was inspired by artists like Whitney Houston and Mariah Carey and learned to imitate their intricate singing styles.

When Jennifer became a young adult, she moved to Southern California. She became an active member of a local church and a key part of their worship team. In early 2007, she was asked to sing vocals with the pioneering gospel reggae group Christafari. A few months later she began touring heavily with the band and has since become a key member and an essential part of their stage show. Over the last few years, Jennifer has toured relentlessly with Christafari, both as a supporting and lead vocalist visiting more than 20 countries worldwide!

In 2008, Jennifer collaborated with Solomon Jabby in her debut single, "Redeeming Son", which was featured on "Reggae Redemption Songs II", by Christafari and Friends (Lion of Zion Entertainment). Jennifer is also featured on another of the album's singles, "Teachings of His Majesty", with Christafari. Her mentors Mark Mohr and Avion Blackman of Christafari, have encouraged and nurtured her creativity throughout the years and watched Jen blossom into an incredible artist and great friend.

In between tours with Christafari, Jennifer is currently working on her highly anticipated solo debut. She has described the upcoming album as "Dauntless and spunky--just like me!" She is working with several of gospel reggae's finest producers and players of instrument to create this project. On this album, Howland is drawing from her wide array of influences from Beyonce to Marley. It is the best of the old school with the new. It's roots meets lovers rock with an urban flare that is sure to be appreciated by all!
